

SPECIAL EDUCATION AND REGIONAL CENTER SERVICES ADVOCACY CLINIC

On November 1, 2008, Area Board XI will host a free advocacy clinic for consumers and parents with educational and/or regional center services questions and concerns.

The clinic will be staffed by volunteer advocates who are graduates of the SEAT (Special Education Advocacy Training) program, an intensive, year-long training program provided by the USC-University Centers on Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (one of the federal partners of the State Council on Developmental Disabilities) and funded by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education.

To meet with an advocate:

- Call or email to schedule an appointment for a one-hour consultation

For school issues, please bring:

- The student's last (2) IEPs and current triennial assessment

For regional center issues, please bring:

- The consumer's current IPP and school triennial, if applicable, along with any other pertinent assessments

Appointments are required and will be filled on a first-come, first-serve basis. When you make your appointment, please indicate whether you want to meet with a consultant who specializes in education or regional center matters.
